30 Days of Times Tables

Why Use this Booklet?

What do I feel is the most important skill to learn, in gaining confidence in maths?

The simple answer is Times tables: Let me explain...

Obviously there are a multitude of factors, from knowledge to emotional state, however I cannot overstate the importance of this fact. To put it simply, if your child does not know their times tables, or a efficient and timely way to calculate times tables, they cannot access the higher level topics within the curriculum, unfortunately it will be a constant barrier. In both the school and tutoring setting it is a common skill that once rectified, shows a massive boost in a child's confidence and understanding of topics.

What topics need your timetables?

Division, Fractions, Decimals, Percentages, Area, Ratio, Inverse operations, Bidmas/ Bodmas, Mean Average, Multiples, Factors, Prime Factors, Prime Numbers, Square numbers....

I think you get the point, if times tables are fluid then the initial barrier to all these topics and more is broken down.

How to use this booklet:

Follow each day from start to finish.

Focused attention (No TV, phone, etc.)

If you want to use a timer to see improvement this can sometimes be a great motivator.

After the 30 days I would suggest dipping into the pack every few days

(days 21 – 30) to help ensure the retention.

When learning anything it comes down to periodic repetition of the correct content. This method is proven to work. (I used it with my class this year and have seen the benefits in all areas of teaching maths!)

Should you have any question at all, do not hesitate to contact me at stirlingtuition@gmail.com and I will help any way I can. (Sam Stirling)
