2. was up. "Your friends are over there," she said, nodding toward the other side of the cafeteria.
3. "I'd rather sit here today," Tom replied. He took a bite out of his pizza and looked around the

6. "I can't believe you said that in front of everyone," Lindsey said. Anger rose inside her, but she
7. kept control of herself. "My mom bought me those shoes because she thought I would like
8. them. Now everyone's going to call me 'Sparkle Toes' forever." She pushed her feet beneath
9. her backpack, which she had placed on the floor. She tried her best to hide the silver shoes
10. with their glittery pink laces. "I thought we were friends," she said, looking down.
11. "We are friends," Tom said. "I was just trying to be funny. How can I make it up to you?" Finally,
12. Lindsey realized that Tom meant what he said. Plus, she had an idea. She began unlacing her
13. shoes. "Give me your shoes. You wear mine for the rest of the day," she said. Then she
14. glanced at the second piece of pizza on Tom's plate. "And give me your other slice of pizza.
